The new BMW M3 Saloon
and M4 Coupé

The Ultimate
Driving Machine

WARNING GOOSEBUMPS AHEAD.

THE NEW BMW M3 SALOON AND M4 COUPÉ AT ELMS STANSTED.

We are excited to launch the new BMW M3 Saloon and the adrenaline fuelled new BMW M4 Coupé. For your chance to test drive¹ one of the new additions to the M range or to win an exclusive BMW Driving Experience Day* come down to our dealership over the launch weekend.

THE NEW BMW M3 SALOON & M4 COUPÉ.

21-22 JUNE 2014

The BMW M3 Saloon combines M motorsport genes with suitability for everyday use. This high-performance BMW takes driving pleasure to new heights.

The BMW M3 Saloon is a four-door high-performance sports car. The completely redeveloped 431hp M TwinPower Turbo six-cylinder petrol engine offers spontaneous performance across the entire rev range. Innovations from motorsport like the Active M Differential, Adaptive M suspension, M Servotronic or the optional seven-speed M Double Clutch Transmission with Drivelogic redefine the limits of possibility. The cockpit has the last word in perfect ergonomics too. The new M seats with their shell-like form offer side stability and create the ideal connection to the vehicle. Everything is orientated towards one thing: the driver.

The BMW M3 Saloon's shape highlights its powerful dynamics. From the muscular powerdome that defines the shape of the turbocharger engine, to the large air inlets in the front that ensure optimal engine cooling – every detail is justified by its function. Along with the Aero Curtain and Air Breathers giving the vehicle an aerodynamic touch, the M double-slat kidney grille with the M3 logo, M gills and the quad exhaust stand for the performance capabilities of the four-door sports car's iconic appearance.

Experience the new BMW M3 and see for yourself how the M engineers have created an absolutely coherent vehicle. Precise, agile and sharp, it will provide you with the ultimate driving experience.

With its record-breaking light weight of under 1,500kg, the BMW M4 Coupé has been designed to make the impossible possible. The car is equipped with the brand new 431hp M TwinPower Turbo straight six-cylinder petrol engine with seven-speed M Double Clutch Transmission with Drivelogic. It also features precision technologies like the M Servotronic, Active M Differential and Adaptive M suspension – creating a seamless connection between driver and machine.

Even at a glance, the BMW M4 Coupé is clearly a car that delivers high performance. A classic BMW M model, its powerful, sporty look is enhanced with athletic lines and an elongated silhouette. The interior blends in seamlessly: every detail is built around the driver, offering the best possible control and an uncompromising motorsport character.

At the rear, the four bevelled tailpipe finishers with their unmistakable sound send out a clear message: this vehicle stands for unbeatable performance – in technology, design and, above all, out on the road.

At the heart of the BMW M4 Coupé is the redeveloped M TwinPower Turbo straight six-cylinder petrol engine, which delivers tremendous power and an unmistakable sound. The interplay of optimally-aligned motorsport technologies provides direct power development with a boost of 431hp.

Sisters give birth within seven days of each other at the same hospital

THREE sisters from Harlow share a very special bond. They speak to each other almost every day and they live within a few minutes of each other.

And that bond was strengthened even further when, without any advanced planning, all three gave birth within a week of each other at the same hospital.

The Buston trio - Odette, 26, Zara, 25, and Nicole, 23 - are now hoping the three new twigs on their family free - Brodie, Daisy-Mae and Brinley - will grow up the best of friends.

"We are a close family," said Zara, who lives at Bush Fair. "I'm very close to both my sisters.

"We all love being mums and can't imagine life without our babies. They all met on the Saturday after Brinley was born and we hope they grow up to be really close."

She added: "My older sister Odette found out she was pregnant first. She was going to tell me the next day but her partner told me before she could. On the same day I told her I needed to do a pregnancy test, which obviously turned out to be positive.

BABY JOY:

"My younger sister Nicole came round a couple of days later and told me she was pregnant too. The day after I told my parents that I was expecting."

All three babies were born at Harlow's Princess Alexandra Hospital five days before their due dates of May 12, May 15 and

May 19 but in the predicted order.

Brodie, the son of Zara and her partner Brad, 26, was the first to arrive. He was born on May 7 weighing in at 7lb 4.5oz. Next was Daisy-Mae, the daughter of Nicole and Zach, 25, who tipped the scales at 7lb 3oz and finally Brinley, the son of Odette and Trevor, 31, who was born on May 14 and weighed 8lb 9oz.

Zara said: "Our partners, family and friends have all been brilliant. The three of us are looking forward to the future with all the babies growing up to be close."

Odette has two other children, six-year-old Alexis-Mae and Oakley, 2.

Zara said their parents - Ken, 52, and Gaynor, 47, of The Stow - had always been very supportive of their three daughters and since the babies were born have been helping in all the ways that they can.

"We couldn't do it without them and the three of us want to thank them from the bottom of our hearts," she said. "We couldn't have asked for more amazing parents. They love having three new grandchildren."

Council seeks legal guidance over travellers

HARLOW Council is taking legal advice on ways to tackle illegal traveller encampments in the town.

On Monday a group of travellers moved from Third Avenue to the council-owned playing fields at Katherine's.

A separate group has also set up camp in Three Horseshoes Road.

Councillor Emma Toal, portfolio holder for youth and community, said: "The council is seeking external legal advice and is leading on discussions with the police and Essex County Council to resolve the issue of illegal traveller encampments around the town."

"We understand residents' concerns and the frustration they are feeling regarding illegal encampments. We are doing all we can within the legal process to resolve the situation."

Parents not told of academy decision

SHOCKED parents said this week they had no idea their children's primary school in Harlow was to become an academy until they read about it in the Star.

As reported last week, Longwood Primary and Nursery in Paringdon Road, Latton Green Primary School in Riddings Lane and Abbotswold Primary School in Partridge Road are set to become academies under NET Academies Trust.

Yet parents at Latton Green said they knew nothing of the plans or that a decision had been made.

"It was a complete shock," said one, who asked not to be named. "Everyone is so upset; nobody knew."

"What does it actually involve? Parents are asking what does it mean for their children?"

"It makes the school look incapable of communicating with their

GEMMA GARDNER

parents. I want to know how this is going to effect my children," she added.

The parents have since received a letter from the school explaining the situation and apologising for not informing them.

A spokesman for Essex County Council said an increasing number of primary schools in Harlow have successfully converted to academies.

He said the Department of Education expected all schools judged inadequate by Ofsted to convert to an academy with an approved sponsor.

Both Longwood and Latton Green are in special measures while Ofsted inspectors said Abbotswold required improvement.

The spokesman said: "On May 30 the IEB for each school received a letter from the Secretary of State that NET Academies Trust has been confirmed as the approved sponsor for Longwood, Latton Green and Abbotswold."

"It is very early in the process and it is unfortunate that the news leaked before the school could inform parents formally."

"A meeting will be arranged to provide further information to parents about the conversion to academy with NET Academies Trust and the accountabilities of the trust to rapidly improve the quality of education in all three schools and to develop their role and offer something special to the children and young people in their communities."

Changes will give eye patients an even better service at PAH

SIR Following the story in last week's Star ("Eye patients fear for quality of service"), we want to make absolutely clear that patients with age-related macular degeneration (AMD) have been, and will continue to be, treated close to home and by the Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust's own specialists.

Moorfields Eye Hospital helped to set up this pioneering service in 2010. However, four years on we have grown our own expertise in the management of AMD and it is now a standard element of the service at the trust.

Patients will also see further investment in our ophthalmology services from January 2015. We are able to do this as the trust will no longer be paying Moorfields for a service which we are able to provide on our own.

The story suggested that patients would not be getting the same level of treatment in the future when in fact the same team will continue to provide the care.

We hope this reassures our patients that this change is positive and will in fact offer a better patient experience through investment in services.

If, however, patients would like further explanation we urge them to call our communications department on (01279) 827295.

Jules Martin, chief operating officer
The Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust

Do expansion proposals signal the end of the Gibberd ideals?

SIR The council's draft 10-year plan for Harlow has options for nil growth to 20,000 houses in that period.

The continued expansion of Stansted Airport and new political decisions on the need for massive housebuilding programmes means that Harlow and its neighbours between here and Cambridge will see major developments over the next decade.

The report makes numerous references to consultations/negotiations on boundary changes etc with neighbouring local councils. These could involve delays and unsatisfactory compromises.

The strategic and economic development of the M11 corridor (M25 to Cambridge) needs an overall Government-appointed (and financed) development corporation or regional development agency to develop and implement the necessary decisions on infrastructure and settlement locations.

Obviously the concerned local authorities would be represented on the new agency and would be expected to implement the agreed strategic plan.

In the past decade district and county councils have lost, or outsourced, many of their services. It is, perhaps, an opportune time to bring together parks, libraries, highways and social services under one council.

Some years ago the Government abandoned its proposals for more unitary councils for this area but it would be sensible to establish unitary councils to cover the M11 corridor. Perhaps two authorities - the first for a Stort Valley unitary council from the M25 to Saffron Walden and the second to cover Saffron Walden to Cambridge - which would democratically cover the proposed strategic/economic M11 corridor.

By 2025 Harlow could have doubled in

THIS week's photo was sent in by Colin Tack, of Hollyfield, Harlow. "I was taking a bag of rubbish out to the bins when I saw this little hedgehog," he writes.

If you have a photo taken in or around the town which you would like to feature in our Photo of the Week section, email a high resolution copy in JPEG format, along with a description of your photo and details of when and where it was taken, to star@hertsessexnews.co.uk. Include your name and address and insert 'Photo of the Week' in the subject line.

size. Perhaps by 2050 it will have trebled in size to become a modern garden city. Will Gibberdville be subsumed into the new metropolis? Will it survive as 1960s heritage or is it goodbye to Gibberd?

Ron Bill, Upper Park, Harlow
Dermot Byrne, Upper Park, Harlow

Perhaps M&S should offer us a better range of merchandise

SIR So Marks & Spencer is to close its Broad Walk premises, having concluded that Harlow cannot sustain a successful M&S general merchandise store?

If the company had bothered to provide a decent range of merchandise in the first place it might have had more success in the town. I can't remember the last time I purchased a garment from this store.

I've wandered in to browse the racks from time to time but have never found anything that I liked - and as a woman of "maturer" years, I believe I am the type of customer M&S has always attempted to target!

M&S is capable of stocking attractive, well-designed and well-priced clothing - a trip to its Brookfield Centre store at Cheshunt will confirm this. So why couldn't it offer Harlow customers a better range of merchandise?

Bridget McAlpine
Vicarage Wood, Harlow

Why must we pay extra to have heavy items taken away?

SIR I live on one of the big estates in Harlow and often see large items dumped by the side of the road. A few days later the council come around and pick the items up.

I am one of those people that refuses to do this sort of thing, preferring to drive to the tip to dispose of my rubbish. I now have a number of very large items that I need to get rid of and on looking at the council website I see it charges £10.50 up to five items and £21 for up to 10 items.

Among the items I need removing are fence panels which blew down in the winds in January but I have been told these will not be taken as they are classified as trade waste. So how am I meant to dispose of them as I have no way of taking these to the tip myself?

I am at the point of being like everybody else and dumping it by the kerb. My mother's local council in Waltham Forest collect heavy items without a charge (just give them a call and leave in front garden) plus they have weekly bin and recycling collections. Why are we not like this or is it because the council needs all the money it can get to put new kitchens and bathrooms into all its council properties?

Name and address withheld

It seems some parts of town get treated more favourably

SIR, I welcome the button roundabout now in place at the junction between Southern Way and Ployters Road. It has only taken five-10 years for them to decide we were worthy of it.

Ployters Road services more houses than any other road along Southern Way, as well as the garage and mini supermarket but we are the last to receive a roundabout.

For too many years we have had to queue for access to Southern Way along with articulated lorries servicing the supermarket.

I now read in the Star that there will be more improvements to the A14 at the Clock Tower roundabout. Apparently it is deemed a bottleneck by Essex County Council. In my opinion the pinch point along that part of the road is not at the roundabout suggested, it is at the large roundabout at the junction with the M11.

Anyone who has travelled along this section of the road at peak time knows the queue extends all the way down from this roundabout. It seems to me the only issue concerning the roundabout at the Clock Tower is the exit from Church Langley where cars struggle to join the A14.

I have also noticed the preferential treatment Church Langley receives from Essex County Council when it comes to traffic issues. More bus routes run to this area than the rest of the town put together.

There are no bus lanes on the route to the Staple Tye area, even though it is probably the densest occupied area of Harlow.

I have also noticed more buses leaving Harlow Town station are en route to Church Langley than any other area of Harlow. I waited an hour-and-a-half for a bus to Staple Tye while some six buses left for Church Langley.

What could be the reason for this open favouritism? Maybe it is because they vote Conservative or could it be elitism as both Church Langley and Old Harlow have always distanced themselves from Harlow 'new' town. How often have you heard Church Langley referred to as the village while residents of Old Harlow never refer to themselves as from Harlow?

It has been long enough now for Harlow to drop 'new town' so it may be time to refer to Harlow in its entirety as plain Harlow.

Petition has persuaded county council to carry out repairs

SIR I would like to thank those people who were able to sign the petition regarding the disgraceful state of the roads and footways around The Stow (Star, May 1).

I am pleased to report that Essex County Council, despite refusing to commit itself before the petition, has now indicated it is indeed going to carry out much-needed repairs.

Local county councillor Mike Danvers has promised me he will keep up the pressure to ensure that all the necessary works will be completed as soon as possible.

Danny Purton
Pitchway, Harlow

Flashing signs no substitute for a policeman with a speed gun

SIR A couple of months ago the council fitted two 30mph flashing signs in Old Road, Old Harlow. I am told they cost between £6,000-£8,000 but it seems to me that it has made it worse as the cars seem to go faster to make the sign light up.

I do believe that if the police spent 30 minutes a week with a speed camera on the bridge, word would soon get around that you have to drive at 30mph in Old Road.

Also the fines would pay for the time spent by the police and money would have been saved by the council

Peter Davis
Old Road, Old Harlow

My first experience of being a PAH patient was very positive

SIR Having been an occasional visitor since the 1960s, I recently had my first experience of being a patient in Princess Alexandra Hospital. I cannot speak too highly of the treatment I received at such short notice.

The staff are always polite, cheerful and attentive. The level of professionalism from all people who worked there is outstanding. How fortunate we are to have such a superb hospital in Harlow and the Kingsmoor ward in particular.

Could I also use your letters pages to apologise to anybody who turned up for my ward surgery on Saturday morning at The Stow library. I am afraid my appendix was just not up to it and refused to give me any notice of its condition until it was too late to make other arrangements.

Disabled athlete Anne 'in shock' by award of MBE

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A HARLOW paralympian has admitted she thought it was a joke when she opened a letter telling her she was to receive an MBE in the Queen's Birthday Honours List.

Anne Wafula-Strike, pictured right, of Willowfield, has been awarded the honour for her services to disability sport and charity.

"I could not believe it; I still cannot believe it," the mother-of-one told the Star this week. "I found out a month ago and I have had to keep it a secret which was so difficult. I had been trying to avoid people in case I told them."

"I thought it was a joke when I started reading the letter. The envelope had Her Majesty on it and I was like 'this is a joke'. You just do not expect anything like that to happen so when it happened I was just in shock."

Kenya-born Ms Wafula-Strike, who was struck down with polio at the age of two which left her paralysed below the waist, has competed in wheelchair racing since 2002. Two years later she became the first person from east Africa to compete in the Paralympic Games.

She has won three gold medals at British Disability Sports Events and made her GB debut at the 2006 Visa Paralympic World Cup. She also claimed three gold medals at the DSE Championships in Manchester.

As well as racing, she works as a wheelchair coach with young disabled people in Harlow for All Ability and Leisure and has been a sporting champion for Sport England.

In 2010 she launched the charity Disabled Empowerment Association, which aims to help people with a disability via educational opportunities. She is also an ambassador for the British Polio Fellowship.

"I do what I do because I enjoy it and I try to help charities as I am who I am because of charity work and of the opportunities I was given as a result," she said. "I know that it makes a difference to somebody's life."

"My dad will be overjoyed with the news. He used to say to me 'Anne, you just need to work hard, be passionate and you will die with kings and queens'."

"I can't believe it but the MBE is not just mine; it is for all the people I have worked with and for all the people that made it possible for me to support others. It is not just for me, it is for them."

Also named in the honours list is Philip Wright, from Harlow, who has been awarded a British Empire Medal. Mr Wright, a squadron warrant officer with the Wanstead and Woodford squadron of the Air Training Corps, has been honoured for his voluntary service.

Essex deputy police chief to receive Queen's Medal

ONE of the most senior police officers in Essex has been awarded the Queen's Police Medal for distinguished service.

Deputy Chief Constable Derek Benson, who joined the county force from the Metropolitan Police in 2006, was named in the Queen's Birthday Honours List.

Chief Constable Stephen Kavanagh said: "Derek is dedicated to serving the people of Essex and it's great to see his hard work recognised."

"He has been a huge support to me since I became Chief Constable in May last year and he is also a huge support to officers and police staff."

The Queen's Police Medal is awarded to officers in the United Kingdom and Commonwealth of Nations for gallantry or distinguished service.

Community champions receive civic honours

AN inspirational dad, a caring lollipop lady and a community champion have been recognised for their outstanding contribution to Harlow.

The three residents were presented with Civic and Community Awards at Harlow Council's annual council meeting on Thursday.

The awards, which were presented by outgoing council chairman Linda Pailing, were given to fundraiser Sam Snelling, school crossing patrol officer Jane Chivrell and Rev Robert Findlay.

Mr Snelling, 30, of Victoria Gate started fundraising almost two years ago after his son Ralph's difficult birth. Ralph, who is now a healthy toddler, spent six days at

gemma.gardner@hertssexnews.co.uk

Princess Alexandra Hospital's neonatal intensive care unit and Sam has been fundraising for the unit ever since.

He has raised more than £8,000 through marathons, quiz nights, curry evenings and inspiring other individuals to take part in challenges for the charity.

Ms Chivrell has been the Potter Street crossing patrol for 25 years. In that time she has put a great deal of effort into improving and ensuring the safety of children and adults.

This has included lobbying for vehicle activated signs (VAS). She has also obtained fluorescent jackets for children at the infant and junior schools with funding from Harlow Community Transport.

Mr Findlay works hard as the town chaplain and leads Heart4 Harlow which aims to bring local communities of all faiths together.

He organises the Heart4Harlow festival each year, which celebrates Harlow and all it has to offer, and he has also set up the Heart4Harlow Awards which recognise the contributions of organisations and people who have made a significant impact on the town.

Cllr Pailing said: "I would like to thank Sam, Jane and Robert for their valuable contributions to the community in Harlow and wish them well for the future."

TEATIME: Carers Trust's Harlow and Epping Forest group enjoy afternoon tea

Charity celebrates the work of carers

CARERS in Harlow and Epping were treated to afternoon tea by the Carers Trust to mark a national week.

There are currently more than 20,000 carers supporting a family member or close friend in Harlow and Epping Forest. Local figures show one in eight adults are carers to the elderly and frail or to children or adults living with a long-term illness, disability or health condition.

A recent YouGov poll found that more than two thirds of adults surveyed did not believe it likely they would find themselves as carers in the future despite three in five adults becoming carers at some point in their lives.

More than half of the carers surveyed in the same poll said they were struggling behind closed doors and were not receiving enough support.

Kathy Verges, Chief Executive of Carers Trust Epping Forest, Harlow, Havering and Redbridge, said: "These findings show the importance of continuing to raise awareness of the realities and challenges of caring – particularly to those with long-term health conditions and disabilities."

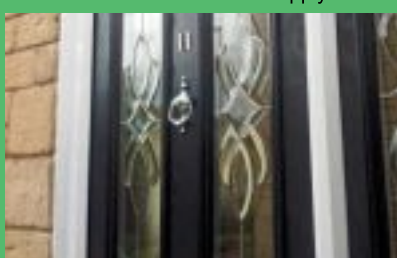

"Carers need support and a regular break from their caring role and that is the ethos and aim of our charity."

Conservatives hope to be a 'critical ear' in council chamber

CONSERVATIVE councillor Andrew Johnson has been re-elected leader of the opposition group on Harlow Council.

Cllr Johnson, who represents Church Langley ward, will be supported by Cllr Joel Charles, 28, who represents Old Harlow, as deputy leader.

"I am very proud and honoured to be re-elected as leader of Harlow Conservatives," said Cllr Johnson.

The 37-year-old said the Tories planned to be the "critical ear in the chamber" by identifying where the Labour-run council was "getting things wrong but supporting where they get things right".

He added: "We will be carefully watching their plans for council tax and fighting against further rises.

"We will also be paying special attention to the discretionary services like The Playhouse, paddling pools and Pets' Corner because we fear the Labour Party don't have a long-term plan. I would hate to see the Labour Party close them."

Cllr Johnson says he hoped the young leadership team will bring "lots of energy and enthusiasm to the table".

HANDOVER:
Cllr Linda Pailing presents Cllr Ian Beckett with the chains of office

New chairman expresses his hope for a quiet year in office

LABOUR councillor Ian Beckett has taken the chains of office after being appointed as the new chairman of Harlow Council.

Cllr Beckett, who takes over from Cllr Linda Pailing, was elected to the post at Thursday's annual council meeting. He will be supported by Conservative councillor Tony Hall as vice-chairman.

In his acceptance speech, Cllr Beckett said his theme for the year would be legacy and he would focus on social responsibility, youth citizenship and cultural heritage.

"Our legacy for the town is laid down by what we do and the things that we decide," he told councillors. "Our legacy is also reflected in our behaviour."

He noted the improvement in the standard of debate and the manner in which councillors were conducting themselves in the chamber.

"We ask the public to follow the rules and be respectful," he added. "When the youth councillors come to visit us, they will do they look to us to provide a positive example that they might choose to follow."

Cllr Beckett will support three charities - No Child Without, The Chocolate Run and The Gibberd Garden. His first fundraising event will be a family onesie walk from Passmores School to Harlow Museum on Saturday, July 12.

He said that a good chairman is "seldom heard from" and added: "If you work with me to achieve what I set out this should be the longest that you will hear from me until this time next year."

'I was in tears at the sight of those five small coffins'

FOR former Harlow Council leader Mark Wilkinson, the past two years has been a turbulent period of ups and down with budgets slashed and a tragedy that rocked the town.

But Cllr Wilkinson, who stepped down as leader on Thursday, said he is proud to have been able to serve the town where he was born.

Cllr Wilkinson has been Labour group leader for six years and leader of the council since May 2012.

The father-of two told the Star that he is now looking forward to spending more time with his family - and specifically eating dinner with them.

"Being leader has taken its toll and I think it's the right time to move on," he said. "I'm looking forward to spending more time with my wife and two beautiful daughters."

The 52-year-old, who has worked for the same company in Harlow since leaving school, said two days in particular during his time as leader stick in his memory.

"They are really different days from different ends of the spectrum," he said. "The first is when the Olympic Torch came through Harlow. I was proud to be leader on that day. The sun shone for Harlow that day."

"Then there were the funerals of the Shakoar family [victims of the Barn Mead house fire in 2012] which was the saddest of my life. It was a sad day in the history of Harlow and a day I will never forget.

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

"I was in tears to see those coffins, five of them very small."

Other moments included the authority becoming a living wage council and the creation of the Harlow Enterprise Zone. But it hasn't been an easy ride for Cllr Wilkinson, who has faced some challenging decisions to balance the budget.

He said: "It's been tremendously difficult because we've been faced with ongoing cuts from Government. It's been really hard and challenging but I'm pleased to have kept things going [Pets' Corner, The Playhouse and paddling pools] as they're things people really value. I found that really challenging."

Cllr Wilkinson, pictured right, will continue to serve as a councillor for the Harlow Common ward. Cllr Jon Clemmner has been named as his successor as council leader with Cllr Tony Durcan the new deputy.

School colleagues tackle peaks challenge

SIX members of staff from Church Langley Primary School have completed the Three Peaks Challenge in aid of Cancer Research UK and Juvenile Diabetes Research Foundation.

David Stacey, Jenn Lott, Jayne Heard and Gill Pardoe - pictured above - made up the climbing team while headteacher Stacey Ward and Hayley Johnson acted as drivers.

The team managed to scale of Ben Nevis, Scafell

Pike and Snowdon in the 24-hour time period.

Jenn said: "There was a real myriad of emotions when we regrouped at the foot of Snowdonia - elation, pride, excitement, relief and of course, exhaustion."

"We are convinced that we would not have been so positive about completing the challenge or successful if we hadn't had the knowledge that so many people were behind us and urging us on."

Pupils at the school were also set a challenge to earn £3 by completing jobs for family members.

The money they raised will be added to the overall total.

Sponsored walk for Razed Roof

INCLUSIVE performing arts group Razed Roof will be holding a sponsored 5km walk, jog or run at the Mark Hall Sports Centre in Harlow next Sunday (June 29) as part of their annual fundraising events.

Members of the group, which celebrates its 10th anniversary this year, will be taking part in the fundraiser along with friends, family and supporters who will all be wearing fancy dress.

Razed Roof spokeswoman Barbara Lazarus said: "We have been given the use of the athletics track free of charge. The money we raise will go towards our ongoing work to develop theatre skills and performing opportunities."

The event starts at 10am. For more information on the 5km or Razed Roof, email Barbara Lazarus at barbara.lazarus1@btinternet.com.

Party fundraiser for care home

THE Friends of Netteswell Rectory raised more than £1,300 by holding a garden party.

The care home in Manston Road, Harlow, is run by disability charity Livability and provides residential care for nine adults with learning disabilities.

The Friends group was set up earlier this year to support its work. The garden party, was its first fundraiser.

Band Redwood entertained guests and a barbecue was provided by Masterson Funeral Home. A raffle was also held to boost the proceeds.

Home manager John McCredie thanked the community and said: "The event was a roaring success."

School fun day to support students

BURNT Mill Academy, in First Avenue, Harlow, will be holding a fun day this weekend to raise money for the school's PTA.

It will feature a range of traditional fun fair games as well as quasar, a bouncy castle and quad bikes. The Harlow Falconry team will also be present.

Refreshments and food will be available and students will be running their own stalls to raise money for charities of their choice.

The fun day will be held on Saturday from noon-4pm.

Hospice lottery

THE winner of the £1,000 first prize in the St Clare Hospice lottery drawn on Friday, June 13 was ticket holder 863822, who lives in Nazeing. The second prize of £200 was not won and rolls over to the next draw.

Group wheels out two scooters and £1,400 for charity

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

HARLOW Inner Wheel celebrated the organisation's 90th anniversary by donating cash and scooters to a children's charity.

Members of the women's club were given the task of raising money for a local charity to mark the milestone.

The Harlow branch, which meets monthly, presented a cheque for £1,465 as well as two scooters to Kisses4Kids, which supports children with life-limiting illnesses. Club president Sheila Clow handed the cheque to Kisses4Kids founder Stacey Johnson, who is currently undergoing her ninth course of chemotherapy for a brain tumour, during afternoon tea at Hallingbury Manor in Bishop's Stortford.

The club raised the money by holding a number of events.

One member chipped in £150 by abseiling down the Church Langley water tower while the group invited Jonny Hewlett, the managing director of Diesel UK who grew up in Harlow, to give a talk about his experiences in the fashion industry. The event raised more than £1,000.

Mrs Clow said: "The project set to all Inner Wheel groups across the country was to do something with wheels which is why we got Kisses4Kids the scooters which they can have in their holiday caravans. "Kisses4Kids is a wonderful charity and Stacey is so brave. We hope the donations and afternoon tea put a smile on her face."

She added: "We also support members of the community if they are having a hard time. We try to do lots of things, whatever is needed."

The group is always looking for new members. To find out more about the club, call Mrs Clow on (01279) 419169.

Council tenant guilty of torching her home

A WOMAN convicted of deliberately setting fire to her council home in Harlow because she wanted to move must wait to hear her fate.

Leesa Wenman, 32, was found guilty at Chelmsford Crown Court of a charge of reckless arson at her maisonette in Quarry Spring. Sentence was adjourned until August 11.

The jury was told the blaze caused £13,000 worth of damage.

Carolyn Gardiner, prosecuting, said Wenman moved into the premises in

COURT REPORTER

star@hertsessexnews.co.uk

June last year but was not happy.

On the afternoon of the fire she argued with a neighbour and her nephew. At about 8.30pm she said she was going in for the night and asked to borrow a cigarette lighter.

"A few minutes later a fire alarm went off," said Ms Gardiner. "Neighbours smelled smoke, it smelled like plastic was burning. They realised Wenman's flat was on fire."

It took the firefighters half-an-hour to extinguish the blaze in Wenman's bedroom.

The jury was told Wenman had left her home through a window and had gone to a friend's. When police arrested her there she did not ask any questions about the fire or damage to her home, but denied she had started it.

Ms Gardiner added: "We say nobody else could have got in (to the maisonette) in that timeline and set fire to that property and nobody else would have wanted to."

Giving evidence, neighbour Kerry Roche said that within a week of moving in to the property Wenman said she did not like living there because she did not get on with one of the neighbours.

The court also heard Wenman had told a friend the area was worse than the estate on the TV show Shameless.

The jury was told two fires were started in the bedroom where there were burn marks on the floorboards and skirting board.

Although the blaze did not spread from the bedroom there was smoke and heat damage in other rooms on the same floor.

Wenman was cleared of arson with intent to endanger life but found guilty of an alternative charge of arson being reckless as to whether life is endangered.

She denied both offences

Boost for businesses with launch of zone's superfast broadband service

NEED FOR SPEED: Left to right, Essex County Council deputy leader Kevin Bentley, Harlow Council chief executive Malcolm Morley, chairman Linda Pailing and leader John Clemmer, Essex County Council chairman Norman Hume, Andrew Bramidge and Annette Thorpe

HARLOW has become one of the first towns to benefit from the Superfast Essex broadband programme.

A 'live' fibre broadband cabinet was unveiled in River Way on Thursday. It was one of three ceremonies - the other two were held in Colchester and Braintree - to mark the progress in rolling out faster broadband across the county.

Homes and businesses located within the Harlow Enterprise Zone will be among the first to benefit from the programme.

Among those who attended the launch were representatives from Harlow Council, Essex County Council, Harlow Enterprise Zone, the Federation of Small Businesses, Harlow Chamber of Commerce, BT and local businesses.

Kevin Bentley, deputy leader of Essex County Council and cabinet member for economic growth and infrastructure, described it as a "great day" for the Harlow Enterprise Zone.

"Businesses and residents do a lot online and support the economy in doing so," he said. "It is important that they have the correct speeds."

Greg Clark, chairman of the Harlow Enterprise Zone Board, added:

"Providing access to high quality broadband services is one of the central promises to business of the HEZ. This new service in Templefields will help existing businesses to grow and will also help us to attract new businesses to the zone, bringing new jobs to Harlow."

Superfast Essex is a £24.6m programme to deliver the county's biggest ever broadband transformation. ECC is spearheading the programme in partnership with BT to make fibre broadband available to more than 87 per cent of homes and businesses by the end of summer 2016.

BT regional director Annette Thorpe said: "Fibre means higher speeds and businesses can work faster and have more reliable connections. One business which now uses fibre said it has saved up to half-an-hour each day as a result."

Countywide campaign to tackle domestic abuse gains support from around the world

A CAMPAIGN against domestic abuse launched by Essex Police and Essex County Council has gone international thanks to social media.

In its first five days of the 'Standing Together' initiative more than four million people have been made aware of the campaign via Twitter, Facebook and other online and social media channels.

Views of the domestic abuse pages on the Essex Police website have increased by 710 per cent in just four-and-a-half days.

The campaign has also involved online advertising, media coverage, posters and leaflets.

Cllr Dick Madden, cabinet member for children and families at Essex County Council, said: "We've had an amazing response to this campaign so far. Our main goal all along was to raise awareness and I think the figures speak for themselves."

Chief Constable Stephen Kavanagh added: "We have been overwhelmed by the support from our partners, the local community and people all around the world who have been standing with us to raise awareness of this very important issue."

STEWARDS ACADEMY

ST MARK'S WEST ESSEX CATHOLIC SCHOOL

Achievement awards recognise very best of Harlow's students

HARLOW FIELDS SCHOOL & COLLEGE

HARLOW COLLEGE

MARK HALL ACADEMY

THE achievements of more than 60 pupils and seven adults from eight Harlow schools was celebrated at an awards night held at Harlow Playhouse.

The Jack Petchey Foundation awards honoured the achievements of the winners aged 11-25 who received medallions and framed certificates as well as cheques for £200 for their schools.

They were nominated by their peers and leaders, receiving recognition for a variety of achievements both great and small.

Seven adults received leader awards for demonstrating an ability to motivate young people.

Among those attending the ceremony were Harlow Council chairman Linda Pailing, who said "The evening has been inspiring and humbling when you hear about the wonderful things these young people have achieved."

Police commander Chief Superintendent Justin Smith said: "In my job you quite often meet the small minority of your young people who get things wrong. Tonight is all about the majority of young people who get things right."

Entertainment was provided by students from Passmores Academy, Laura Lewis from Mark Hall Academy, Dave Harris from Harlow College and Caitlin Clancy from Stewards Academy.

The Jack Petchey Foundation was established by self-made millionaire Jack Petchey in 1999 to recognise the positive contributions young people make to society and to support them in achieving their potential. It has invested £85m to a wide range of 2,000 youth initiatives across London and Essex.

Mr Petchey, 88, said "I am passionate about our awards scheme which enables young people to be recognised, valued and rewarded for their achievements and positive contributions to society."

CASE STUDIES

Hannah Kizilcan (16) Stewards Academy

Hannah has led the Ethnic Minority Pupil Voice group at Stewards Academy and has been a driving force in this influential group for several years.

She has also been very active in performing arts and held a lead role in the school's production of We Will Rock You. Hannah has performed publicly on many occasions including at last year's awards ceremony.

Her award was spent on the purchase of science books for Key Stage 3.

Now that Science is such an important part of education it gives pupils more literature for reference work.

Jude Mante (14) Mark Hall Academy

Jude is a role model for other students and a student that can always be relied upon. He is a very active sportsman and he is a member of all the academy teams.

He has helped out on the student interview panels to interview new staff members and has taken groups of parents on tours of the school.

He is a student who always wears his uniform correctly, is polite and gives 100 per cent in whatever he does.

His award was spent on the geography department to purchase rewards for students, certificates, postcards and stickers.

Owen Norbury (11) Burnt Mill School

Owen joined Burnt Mill last September and has been a model student. He was nominated for an award because he is a friend of a student who has some specific needs and who joined the school at the same time.

Owen has known Stuart since primary school. They are friendly and supportive of each other and Stuart is always able to rely on Owen to remind him of arrangements in school. He is patient, kind, attentive and does not judge.

His grant award has been spent in the science department to fund a guest speaker to deliver a particular aspect of the curriculum.

Ike Ayesumuate Agho (20) Harlow College

Despite having a number of issues outside of college including the threat of deportation and separation from his family, which resulted in him having to live independently, Ike has always demonstrated that he is eager to learn and improve his own skills and has always been very conscientious.

Ike has completed his football referee qualifications and has now been trained and is coaching our the college's first basketball team in his own time.

His award has been spent on new kit for the basketball team.

Paedophile pensioner jailed for raping girls

A PAEDOPHILE pensioner who raped three young girls more than 15 years ago has been jailed for 18 years.

Christakis Christodoulou, 72, carried out the attacks at his former home in Dagenham while his partner was out. The victims were aged between seven and 15.

During the trial at Snaresbrook Crown Court one of the victims told the jury she was having difficulties at home and saw Christodoulou's address as a place of safety, but one night she realised he had been spying on her as she lay in bed.

Christodoulou, of Temple Mead, Roydon, then raped her and the abuse continued until shortly before her 16th birthday.

He sexually assaulted the second victim until she started going to secondary school and felt able to resist him, the court heard. The final victim was just seven or eight when the abuse began and continued until the late 1980s.

Christodoulou was arrested in 2012 after one of his victims came forward. When interviewed by police he denied having sex with any of the girls and said he could not think of a reason they would make it up. He said he had not seen any of the girls since 2000.

Jailing the pensioner on Friday, judge David Radford said: "There's no doubt in my mind that you caused [your victims] misery and psychological harm."

"A number of offences were committed when you were on bail waiting to be dealt with for other sexual abuse offences. Your three victims have had to relive their ordeal by giving evidence at your trial."

Christodoulou was found guilty of three counts of rape, two counts of indecency with a child and six counts of indecent assault.

He will be subject to a sexual offences prevention order if he is released on license and will not be allowed to be alone with any girls under the age of 16.

Hospital trust's finances plunge into red by £16m

Awards for college journalists

A HARLOW College journalism student stood side by side with the editor of one of the country's top daily newspapers at an awards ceremony at the House of Commons.

Alan Rusbridger, editor of The Guardian, trained as a journalist at the college in 1977 after graduating from Cambridge University.

He was presented with an Association of Colleges gold award by Lord Willis of Knaresborough after being nominated by the college.

Current student Tayla Mead, was named a 'future star' in a campaign in which colleges were invited to nominate a student showing promise in a similar field to the gold award winner.

The 21-year-old, who wants to become editor of an online lifestyle magazine, received a £1,000 grant to help further her career aspirations.

Mr Rusbridger has been editor of The Guardian since 1995. He said it was an honour to receive this award, adding: "There is, regardless of all the debates about the future, a craft involved in journalism. Harlow was where I studied that craft, learning about media law and how government worked, about basic ethical dilemmas, and how to do shorthand."

Tanya said: "The grant will enable me to expand my horizons in terms of writing as at present I am having to decline invitations to events as I cannot afford to go."

THE Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust has plunged more than £16m into the red, according to figures obtained by the Labour Party.

Labour claims the figures prove the Government has "lost its grip" on NHS finances.

The analysis, compiled by Labour based on figures from Monitor, the Trust Development Authority and the House of Commons library, shows the PAH trust racked up a deficit of £16.5m in the financial year 2013/14.

Suzi Stride, Labour's parliamentary candidate for Harlow, said: "David Cameron and Robert Halfon promised they would protect the NHS. Instead, their disastrous reorganisation has thrown the NHS into chaos and put patient safety in Harlow at risk."

"Patient care is going backwards as more people are forced to wait longer in A&E, cancelled operations are at their highest for a decade and waits for vital cancer tests and treatments are increasing."

"The Government has also lost grip of the NHS's finances. Princess Alexandra Hospital NHS Trust is reporting a deficit for the first time in years, putting patient care at even greater risk in future. The fact that ministers have to put more money in to tackle a summer crisis in A&E, and the growing backlog of operations, shows how desperate the situation now is."

But Mr Halfon said the reasons for the deficit were "incredibly complex", with factors including an ageing population,

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsessexnews.co.uk

difficulties in recruiting and the cost of agency staff, and an increase in the number of emergency cases.

"However, the hospital has a plan to reduce the deficit over the next three years and is working closely with the clinical commissioning group to make this possible," he told the Star.

"I have had discussions with the Government and acting chief executive of the trust and hope to meet the chairman next week. We should work together to do what we can to help the hospital achieve the planned deficit reduction in the next three years."

Trevor Smith, the trust's director of finance, said: "The trust recorded a deficit of £16.5m in 2013/14, in line with its financial plan for the year."

"It is working hard to reduce the deficit through a clinically led transformation programme, redesigning services to improve our delivery and efficiency."

"This transformation does not mean that the quality of care will be reduced. On the contrary, our plans will build upon the achievements of last year, ensuring accessibility to services and high quality care is at the forefront of the trust's commitments to local people."

"Despite the financial challenges the plan includes significant investment in the recruitment of more nurses to deliver care to patients."

TESTIMONIALS of our Success

Really professional install in my Victorian terrace, they were able to harmonise the design and detailed work with the original features of my house. Whole house fitted, including a new backdoor, in three days. Excellent work, thanks.

Mr Ramirez E17

The fitters were friendly, neat, tidy and efficient. Many people have commented on how good the new windows look. I would happily recommend dolphin to family and friends.

The team are Dolphin are brilliant, I would recommend them to anyone.

Say freeze! Polar bear caught on collar cam

THE first ever footage filmed by a polar bear has been released by a US geological survey.

They attached a camera to the collar of a female polar bear in the Beaufort Sea in Alaska as part of a new conservation study.

The clip shows the bear interacting with a male and dunking her head into the water looking for food.

The collar was attached earlier this year and is part of a study to find out how polar bears are responding to changes in their habitat.

Football fan Suzy keen to support women's soccer

GEMMA GARDNER

gemma.gardner@hertsexsexnews.co.uk

FOOTBALL fan and Harlow Labour parliamentary hopeful Suzy Stride has used the World Cup to encourage more girls to take up soccer.

Ms Stride called for more to be done to promote women's football in Harlow when she joined students at Burnt Mill Academy, in First Avenue, on Monday to take part in a PE lesson.

Tottenham Hotspur fan Ms Stride is a keen footballer and spent the 2010 World Cup coaching in a township in South Africa.

While England's men suffered a setback against Italy in their opening group match on Saturday, the England's women team continued their impressive form with a 3-0 victory over Belarus in a qualifier for the Women's World Cup in 2015.

"The World Cup is a time when everyone gets excited about football," said Ms Stride. "At a time when girls still have far less opportunity to play football than boys it's so important we do all we can to promote girls football.

"It's been great to come into Burnt Mill to see the great work they are doing. It is clear there is more to be done to promote women's football in Harlow.

"We know there is still a long way to go until girls have the same opportunities as guys."

She added: "Football is a great sport for girls as it encourages teamwork and competitive spirit. If girls are watching England's men in Brazil this week and think they could give it a go, they should get involved in one of the local clubs."

Harlow Town Football Club is home to West Ham's ladies team while Harlow has several other girls and women's football teams such as Mark Hall Youth AFC Girls.

Burnt Mill Academy student Millie Hall, 12, said: "It's really helpful having Suzy coming in. It shows that it's not just men who play football but women do, too."

Kristina O'Hara, head of PE at Burnt Mill, said: "It's really important to promote women's football. Women's football is growing across the town but we need more female role models."

HISTORY was brought to life for pupils at two primary schools in Harlow when they dressed up as soldiers and nurses to learn about the First World War.

Pupils at St Alban's Catholic Academy, in First Avenue, and St Luke's Catholic Primary School, in Pynest Road, were given the chance to imagine what life was like for the people caught up in the conflict.

Year 4 history subject leaders Isobel Ghadami and Pelyee O'Del helped to organise the event at both schools. Ms Ghadami said: "The whole school was involved and though it was hard work,

Pupils dress the part for lessons in history

the children loved it.

"We wanted to commemorate the First World War and also raise the profile of history within our schools.

"We made it interesting and hopefully it will mean that their history lessons will stick with them and they will remember the day and what they learned."

M&S clarifies plans for new Simply Food store

FURNITURE retailer Wren Living has confirmed this week it has no plans to close its store at the Queensgate Centre in Harlow.

Doubts were raised over the future of the store after Marks and Spencer submitted a planning application to Harlow Council which indicated it wanted to open a Simply Food outlet in a retail unit next to the Cineworld cinema.

According to the plans, M&S was seeking permission to convert units 11a and 11b. The latter is currently occupied by Wren.

But this week an M&S spokesman said: "I can confirm that it is for Unit 11a only and not Unit 11b.

"The former PC World store has been split into two but M&S is only planning on taking up one of the units."

Last week's the Star reported that M&S is planning to shut its "poorly performing" Broad Walk store in the town centre.

It's time this tax on the sick is scrapped

ONE of the many issues that often crops up in my postbag is complaints about hospital car parking, with cost being the most common concern. Given this, I recently decided to launch an investigation into what hospitals were charging up and down the country.

The results are shocking. Across England, three-quarters of NHS car parks charge patients and their families to park in their car parks, with some hospitals charging as much as £4 per hour. In Harlow, PAH charges £3 for the first two hours of parking - a lot of money for those visiting their loved ones when they are often at their most vulnerable.

This is a tax on the sick as it is often essential for people to use their cars to drive to hospital. As one charity points out, cancer patients are usually unable to use public transport due to having a weakened immune system.

Furthermore, evidence suggests that patients who have visitors get better quicker. And it isn't just patients who are affected. A common problem that affects many Harlow residents who live near the hospital is that hospital users often park on their roads, resulting in it being difficult for them to park.

I believe that we should follow the examples of Scotland and Wales and scrap hospital car parking fees. This would cost £200m but the money could be raised by using more generic drugs rather than their more expensive alternatives.

It is important that any free parking is not abused but this could be achieved by using a token system which many hospitals around the country already use.

This would help millions of people at a time when they should not be facing further expense. I have raised this issue in Parliament and I will also be starting a petition calling for parking charges in hospitals to be scrapped.

THE recent local elections were a mini political earthquake in Harlow as we have five new councillors from an entirely different political party.

I congratulate all of the councillors who are newly elected - whether they be Conservative, Labour or UKIP - as well as the hardworking councillors who were re-elected.

As the town's MP, I think it is incredibly important to listen to everyone who voted in different ways. I will be sending out surveys and speaking to residents during my regular surgeries, stalls in the town centre and my 'Rob in the Pub' meetings.

One thing is for sure: no political party can take anyone for granted. If we do not respond to people's concerns, the results will make this clear.

Searching for legal firms to join volunteer programme

A SKILLS-based employee volunteering programme has set its sights on Harlow and is asking businesses to get in touch.

Lawyers in School aims to raise young people's awareness and understanding of the law. The group is hoping to find Harlow lawyers willing to volunteer their time.

Project manager Amy Jacobs said: "Today we have 40 corporate partners from England, Scotland, Australia and Romania but we are looking for our first Essex partnership."

"If you're a law firm, in-house legal team or chambers, and you are looking for a skills-based employee volunteering opportunity, please get in touch."

For more information contact Ms Jacobs at amy.jacobs@citizenshipfoundation.org.uk.

Health and fitness workout

FORMER professional footballer Leo Roget will be holding an intensive health and fitness training course in Harlow starting at the end of this month.

The RUDE workout, which also incorporates a diet plan, includes before and assessments measuring weight, body fat, muscle mass, hydration levels and bone mass as well as more conventional waist and leg measurements.

"I did a test run in February and it went really well," said Leo. "The idea is everybody attending the course can have results showing exactly what they have achieved over the month."

For more information about the course which runs from June 30 to July 18, visit www.therudeworkout.co.uk.

Network event at karting track

A COMPANY with more than 40 years of experience in the commercial property sector held a networking event with a difference at Rye House Speedway in Hoddesdon.

Derrick Wade Waters, which has an office in Edinburgh Gate, Harlow, and another at Tottenham Hale, was formed in 1973 to provide a multi-discipline approach to property advice.

It holds the go-karting event every year.

Company chairman Gerry Wade, congratulated the winners - Clarke Hillyer - and thanked everyone for attending.

"We wanted to thank firms who have contributed to our success and could not have asked for a better turnout," he said.

Event organiser Amanda Moulder added: "It was the best one we have had. We were also part of the Harlow Business Exhibition and both events have gone really well."

ATRADE centre on the Templefields industrial estate in Harlow will be celebrating its tenth anniversary this weekend with a birthday event for the whole community.

Sam's Trade Centre, in South Road, usually supplies products to independent retailers and professional tradesman. But on Sunday it will be opening its doors to the wider public for one day only as part of its anniversary celebrations.

Sam's Trade Centre is part of Dencon Accessories Ltd, which officially opened for trading in 2004. It was while planning to build more storage for the business that the cash and carry operation was started.

Damian Sullam said: "We have always been based in Harlow. Although business at Sam's was initially slow - we had only a handful of customers - it has been a gradual rise ever since."

"We have a big celebration planned for Sunday. Normally we are only open to tradesman but people from the com-

How to check out your entitlements under council tax reduction scheme

In April 2013 council tax benefit was replaced by the council tax reduction scheme (council tax support).

Whilst council tax benefit was a national benefit, council tax support is a localised scheme with each local authority (council) responsible for devising its own rules subject to some laid down by the Government.

Pensioners are protected under the new scheme so they should not be disadvantaged by the changes.

Because the Government has reduced the amount of money it gives to local authorities to help meet the cost of council tax support, councils have had to decide whether or not to pass on some or all of this reduction to claimants.

As such, different councils have different schemes and where you live is a very important factor on how much council tax you have to pay. In Harlow, a person's council tax liability is reduced by 24 per cent for the purposes of calculating council tax support. This reduction is higher than many authorities.

For example, a couple on income-based Jobseekers Allowance totalling £113.70 per week living in a property in council tax band C with a council tax bill of £1,383.62 per year will get a maximum amount of council tax support of £1051.55 per year and will be expected to pay £6.38 per week in council tax.

Prior to the introduction of council tax support they would not have paid council tax at all. They may also be subject to an under occupancy charge (bedroom tax).

This cut has been very difficult for claimants on low incomes. Harlow Council has a limited fund to assist those who are struggling. To apply for an exceptional hardship payment to help meet the cost of council tax you will need to pick up a form from Contact Harlow or download one from the council's website at www.harlow.gov.uk.

It is important to consider whether you may be entitled to further discounts or reductions to reduce your council tax liability. For example, the 25 per cent discount which applies when there is only one adult occupant or the discounts that apply when another adult or adults in the property are not counted as occupying the property.

There are also reductions available due to disability and property exemptions in certain circumstances.

Further information on the discounts and exemptions available can also be viewed on the council website.

Harlow Advice Centre is based on the first floor of Harlow Central Library in The High. Telephone (01279) 704002 or email admin@harlowac.org.uk. Opening hours are Monday noon-2pm and Tuesday, Thursday and Friday 10am-2pm. Out of hours appointments are available if necessary.

Hospice handyman is one of TV Mary's 'pop-up jobs' stars

bianca.castro@hertsessexnews.co.uk

A GRANDFATHER who has been volunteering his services as a handyman at St Clare Hospice for the past six years appeared on television last night (Wednesday) on a programme highlighting the contribution Britain's overlooked and undervalued pensioners still have to make.

Robin Ekblom, who has been helping out at the Hasting-wood-based hospice since 2008, is among a group of over-65s who put the skills they have spent a lifetime perfecting to good use as part of a pop-up employment agency run by 'queen of shops' Mary Portas.

The Channel 4 documentary - Mary's Silver Service - sets out to highlight the vast and diverse range of skills of the older generation and how much they still have to offer society after retirement.

Former RAF pilot Mr Ekblom, who became involved in the show through his contacts in the U3A, said the object was to show that "old does not mean useless".

A skilled furniture maker and retired hydrography consultant, Mr Ekblom said: "There were about 10 of us oldies, most of whom were plasterers and odd job men. The filming was spread over four days and after an initial day of preparation we were set to help refurbish a young couple's flat.

"Because of my woodworking skills I was asked to make a toy for the little boy of the house, so part of the time filming was at my home watching me make the walking trolley.

"The camera crew stayed for several hours as I sawed and planed and stuck bits together. "I was able to give it to the boy at the end of the programme and Mary was so taken with it that she asked me to make one for her nephew as well."

St Clare voluntary services manager Chris Crump said: "We are privileged to have Robin as a volunteer at St Clare. He has a wealth of experience, wisdom and knowledge, which is invaluable to our facilities team, and is a wonderful example of how much the older generation have to give to voluntary organisations such as ours."

For more information about volunteering opportunities at St Clare, call the voluntary services team on (01279) 773722.

Stone free: Queens' bassist goes it alone

FORMER Queens of the Stone Age bassist Nick Oliveri will be bringing his current UK tour - which included a headlining performance on the acoustic stage at the Download festival - to an end at The Square in Harlow.

His performance at the Fourth Avenue venue tomorrow (Friday) brings the curtain down on a tour which will be followed in September by the release of his album Leave Me Alone.

A single from the album, Human Cannonball Explodes, is already available. Oliveri was a core contributor to Queens of the Stone Age from 1998 to 2004, playing bass and providing backing and lead vocals on two of the band's biggest albums, Rated R and Songs for the Deaf, in addition to co-writing most of the albums' tracks with fellow band member Josh Homme.

As a band leader, his main project is Mondo Generator, a punk/metal hybrid which he formed in 1997.

He has played bass for punk/rock outfits Dwarves and Moistboyz, and is one half of acoustic duo The Uncontrollable with Dwarves frontman Blag Dahlia.

Oliveri will spend most of 2014 on the road. Playing both acoustic and with his new band, Uncontrollable.

Supporting him tomorrow will be Bishop's Stortford singer-songwriters Dean Austin and Alex Bayly.

Beatles celebration a night to remember

IT was the Beatles' album that propelled the Fab Four to worldwide stardom - and this year marks the 50th anniversary of the release of A Hard Day's Night.

To celebrate the golden anniversary of what Q magazine placed at number five in its top 100 greatest British albums ever, acclaimed tribute act The Magic of The Beatles will be visiting Harlow in September as part of a nationwide tour.

A Hard Day's Night captured

John, Paul, George and Ringo at the peak of Beatlemania and established the Fab Four as the greatest pop group the world has ever seen.

The show recreates the group's legendary live performances, taking audiences from their Mop Top roots to the psychedelia of Sergeant Pepper and beyond.

Producer Michael Taylor said:

"With fantastic costumes, brilliant vocals and incredible musicianship, The Magic of The Beatles celebrates the most exciting time in pop music history live and in concert."

The show claims to be the most comprehensive, most authentic Beatles tribute act on tour - even down to original guitars and amps used by the band.

>>> The Magic of The Beatles will be at Harlow Playhouse on Thursday, September 25. Tickets cost £20.

Flowering plants are heaven scent

WHEN I open my patio doors and breathe in the delicious scent of my neighbour's mock orange, with its pretty white flowers cascading conveniently over my garden fence, I know that summer is really here.

The delicious smell of this flowering shrub may only last a couple of weeks but for me it's one of the most memorable events of summer and there are varieties to suit most gardens, from the golden mock orange Philadelphus coronarius 'Aureus', which can be used to light up the back of a mixed border, to the more compact P. 'Manteau d'Hermine', which grows to just 75cm (30in), bearing masses of heady cream flowers and ideally planted next to a seating area in a sheltered spot where people can enjoy its scent to the full.

Of course, on the patio you are spoiled for choice with scented plants. Those which will grow happily in containers include night-scented stocks, clove-scented pinks and scented pelargoniums in the Fragrans Group, which have leaves with the aroma of lemon, orange and mint.

Herbs too will provide you with scent as well as flavour, including lemon verbena, Eau de Cologne mint (Mentha x piperita f. citrata), lemon thyme and fragrant rosemary. All these need to be touched to release their fragrance.

Sweet peas will also grow happily in a pot, trained up a wigwam, to give you not only fragrance but plenty of colour as well. Cut the flowers regularly and put a bunch on your patio table or even indoors if you want the scent inside as well. Cutting is essential with sweet peas if you want more flowers to appear throughout the season, as, if you don't cut them, the flowers will form bean-like pods, which send a message to the plant that flowering is over.

If you're after low-maintenance scent, pots of lavender will provide you with plenty of fragrance as well as attracting bees, and just need shearing to keep neat immediately after flowering. However, keep heavier scents such as lavender separate from other scented plants as otherwise it will dominate the group.

Plants whose scents will blend together beautifully in the border include lilies, phlox, sweet Williams, nicotiana (tobacco plant), sweet peas and nepeta (catmint).

For optimum fragrance, go for old-fashioned varieties of nicotiana, such as N. alata, which folds up its petals during the day and comes to life only at night. Modern dwarf varieties may look better but they don't have as much scent.

Similarly, I prefer old-fashioned roses which are in a bed, as I've never found that patio roses give as much scent-wise. Among my favourite roses for the border is the David Austin English shrub rose, Rosa 'Gertrude Jekyll', which bears stunning large, rosette-shaped pink flowers and has an outstanding perfume, as well as strong stems and a neat, compact shape with flowers produced throughout summer. It can be grown as a climber, reaching a height of around 8ft, and will do well combined with clematis.

Of course, there's also a plethora of scented climbers which are ideal for positioning near a door or pathway, or close to opening windows where their fragrance can be enjoyed from inside too.

Obvious choices include scented honeysuckles, climbing roses and common white jasmine (Jasminum officinale), which can reach 8m (26ft) and produces clusters of simple, white trumpet-shaped flowers from early summer to autumn if planted in well-drained soil in a warm, sheltered spot, ideally on a south-facing wall.

With just some of these choices, hopefully you'll be able to fling open your patio doors and inhale the scent of summer, day or night, come rain or shine.

The boys are back in town

JERSEY BOYS certificate 15 2h14m

BEFORE Beatlemania reduced young women to whimpering wrecks The Four Seasons were the sharp-suited musical heartthrobs of 1960s America.

The distinctive falsetto of lead singer Frankie Valli commanded attention on the radio and TV, producing three number one hits in the space of five months.

The band's meteoric rise inspired Marshall Brickman and Rick Elice to write the 2005 stage show Jersey Boys, which subsequently won four Tony Awards including best musical and continues to play to packed houses in London and New York.

Now Jersey Boys struts and swaggers from the stage onto the big screen. Pitched halfway between a traditional musical and a gritty portrait of the bonds of brotherhood in New York City of the era, Clint Eastwood's impeccably crafted period piece entertains but never truly delights.

Sixteen-year-old Frankie Castelluccio (John Lloyd Young) lives with his parents who urge him to stay out of trouble. But when best friend Tommy DeVito (Vincent Piazza) leads him astray Frankie almost ends up in prison, only avoiding incarceration by virtue of his age.

With encouragement from local mob boss Gyp DeCarlo (Christopher Walken) who becomes Frankie's fairy godfather (with the emphasis on godfather), the teenager pursues his musical ambitions by changing his surname to Valli and joining Tommy's band.

They recruit singer-songwriter Bob Gaudio (Erich Bergen) alongside bassist Nick Massi (Michael Lomenda) and The Four Seasons are born. Talented lyricist Bob Crewe (Mike Doyle) ushers the boys onto the stairway to stardom but Tommy's mounting debts create friction and threaten to tear the band apart.

Jersey Boys employs a similar narrative device to the stage production, allowing different members of the band to address the camera as their rags to riches story unfolds.

However, these languidly shot renditions lack the electrical charge of live performance and it's only in the film's closing act, and during the end credits, that there is any danger of audiences leaping out of their seats and shimmying down aisles.

Vocal performances are note perfect and there are some delightful comical interludes involving Doyle and Walken, the latter easing into his gangster groove with a twinkle in the eye.

The running time may be virtually the same as its theatrical counterpart, but Eastwood's film feels pedestrian and emotional subplots - including Frankie's fractious relationship with his wife Mary (Renee Marino) and daughter Francine - feel undernourished.

The period is, however, beautifully evoked though costumes and faultless art direction.

3 DAYS TO KILL certificate 12A, 1h57m

Elite CIA operative Ethan Renner (Kevin Costner) is involved in a high-profile operation to capture The Albino (Tomas Lemarquis), henchman of notorious arms trafficker The Wolf (Richard Sammel).

However, the plan goes badly wrong and when Ethan regains consciousness in hospital he is told his body is riddled with cancer and has, at most, five months to live.

Consequently, Ethan heads to Paris to be reunited with his wife Christine (Connie Nielsen) and daughter Zooley (Hailee Steinfeld).

Having promised Christine that he will never work for the agency again, Ethan receives a visit from vampy CIA assassin Vivi (Amber Heard), who presses him back into service.

3 Days To Kill splices a preposterous plot with explosive set pieces and offbeat humour. The script is crudely and clumsily constructed and peppered with scenes of staggering implausibility.

Sharp changes in tone from sadistic violence to humour are disorienting and the running time feels uncomfortably longer than two hours.

THE FAULT IN OUR STARS certificate 12A, 2h06m

Based on the best-selling novel by John Green, this heartbreaking drama charts the romance between two teenagers who have been dealt shockingly bad hands in life.

Sixteen-year-old Hazel Grace Lancaster (Shailene Woodley) was diagnosed with cancer at an early age. An experimental drug trial halted the spread of the cancer but Hazel has lost her will to live.

She reluctantly attends a cancer patients' support group at the behest of her parents and during one of these sessions she meets acerbic survivor Gus (Ansel Elgort), who is attending the meeting to support his best friend Isaac (Nat Wolff).

The spark of attraction between the teens is instant and they become close friends, united by a shared disdain for convention. But as the relationship intensifies, Hazel attempts to keep Gus at arm's length.

Your stars with Patrick Arundell to guide you through the week ahead

Aries 21 March - 20 April
Expansive influences can make this an excellent time for negotiation and positive interaction. Try not to jump into a situation too hastily though. It will help to think things through carefully and avoid impulsive moves. Over the weekend, a sacrifice may be in order should a friend require some help, despite any previous plans to kick back and chill out. Call for more news...

Taurus 21 April - 21 May
You may think you know what you want, but do you really Taurus? This week's alignments suggest it's a good time to review your plans and schedules, especially if unforeseen circumstances have caused disruption in recent weeks. This can be a chance to consider activities that could be enjoyable and very rewarding over the long-term. Call for more news and advice...

Gemini 22 May - 21 June
As Venus glides into your sign, you may be willing to collaborate on a project, particularly as your canny know-how could complement someone's practical flair - and if so, a partnership may be about to be born. In addition, the Cancer New Moon on Friday can be useful for taking stock and implementing new and cost saving financial measures. Call for your financial scope in full...

Cancer 22 June - 23 July
Major goals could be mired in conflict. However, the courage to stand firm can bring you out ahead. Later, the New Moon pushes you to get moving on a plan that may have positive consequences if you act now. There's also a chance of romance, but be cautious and don't take someone's word at face value if you've only just met. Call now for your love scope in full...

Leo 24 July - 23 August
When it comes to having fun, you'll be at your flirtatious best, though there may be times when you'll need some peace and quiet. Despite this, one social event might be worth attending if it makes a special impression. Later, the New Moon can be perfect for calming practices such as meditation, yoga or anything that helps you relax. Call me now for your in-depth forecast...

Virgo 24 August - 23 September
You could find yourself brimming with energy, which you can usefully channel into making good progress. In addition, a rethink of your social priorities might entice you to move in new circles, whether you're looking for romance, fun or business. Yet, you may find the spiritual kinship you share with someone to be most supportive right now. Call for more astral advice...

Four-bedroom detached in a sought-after village location

coverproperty

Location Church Lane, Sheering
Category Four-bedroom detached
Additional En suite to master bedroom, two reception rooms, large garden with extensive paved patio
Guide price £469,995
Agent Mackay Property Agents, 25 Bell Street, Sawbridgeworth. Telephone (01279) 600567

Much improved by its current owners and beautifully decorated throughout, this large, four-bedroom detached house in Sheering is certainly worth a look.

Located in the popular Church Lane area of the village, this spacious property has a wealth of stylish features.

On the ground floor the generous entrance hall has a central staircase to the first floor and doors leading off to two reception rooms, the kitchen/breakfast room and a cloakroom.

The large sitting room is a particularly light room with patio doors and a window overlooking the rear garden. There is a feature fireplace and stylish wooden flooring which flows throughout most of the ground floor.

The dining room faces the front of the house and is another light and sunny room.

In the kitchen/breakfast room there is a range of light coloured fitted units with contrasting work surfaces. The floor is tiled and there are built-in appliances.

On the first floor there are the four bedrooms and the family bathroom. The master bedroom has an en-suite bathroom.

The sunny south-westerly facing garden has an extensive paved patio as well as a lawned area with well-stocked shrub borders. The garden is well enclosed by larch lap fencing.

For full details of this property or to arrange a viewing call Mackay Property Agents on (01279) 600567.

THE European Commission has added its voice to warnings that Britain's housing market is posing a threat to the UK's economic stability.

It's no surprise when you look at the facts. According to data from Nationwide UK, house price increases accelerated to 11.1 per cent last month, a figure that simply added fuel to the debate over whether a bubble is developing in the market.

The EU executive wants George Osborne to calm the capital's housing market by reining in the Help to Buy scheme and increasing council tax on more expensive properties.

It's not just the European Commission that is putting the pressure on the Chancellor of the Exchequer. Local estate agency Haart has stressed that the Government must now do more to tackle the chronic shortage of homes for sale, helping second-movers in particular.

Recent Treasury figures have shown that some 80 per cent of the 7,000 plus Help to Buy loans granted in the scheme's first six months went to first-time buyers. Most were outside of London and 38 per cent of the loans were for terraced houses.

Shawn Meakins, senior branch manager at Haart in Harlow, said: "Help to Buy has done a lot to foster the much-needed feelgood factor but it hasn't solved the chronic problem of too few properties for sale, especially for buyers wanting to move up the property ladder."

"We typically have dozens of would-be buyers for every one property for sale on our books."

"Only by allowing more homes to be built and reforming stamp duty will shortages ease. Stamp duty is punishing to buyers, especially when a house moves into a higher tax band which is applied to the whole price."

"We want to see either a stamp duty holiday or lifting the £125,000 tax threshold to help."

Playing the numbers game

BMW 4 Series Coupe £29,420-£59,135 on the road

THE number may have changed but the 4 Series' recipe for success is largely the same as the 3 Series Coupes that preceded it. This time round, the 4 has been on a weight loss plan and features a lower centre of gravity, but otherwise you know what to expect.

There is a certain Teutonic rectitude in BMW giving the saloons and estates in its range odd numbers and the coupes and convertibles even ones, but calling this car a 4 Series isn't going to come easy to most car fans.

Ever since BMW's F30 generation 3 Series saloon made landfall in early 2012, we knew this two-door model was going to subtly diverge from its progenitor in the way that it was marketed, but is there a great deal of difference in the way it's been built?

The oily bits are, somewhat predictably, shared with the 3 Series as it would be cost prohibitive to do anything otherwise. Diesel-wise this means a choice of three engines but should you prefer a petrol engine, there's also a base 420i model with a 184bhp turbocharged 2.0-litre four cylinder powerplant that's offered in rear wheel drive and xDrive 4WD guises.

The same engine is uprated to 242bhp in the 428i. For a six cylinder motor you'll require the range-topping 435i coupe, powered by a turbocharged 3.0-litre six-cylinder petrol engine that delivers some 302bhp. Top of the range is the twin turbo six cylinder 431bhp M4 super-coupe.

The xDrive 4WD models are making up an increasing share of the product mix. The suspension is a modified version of the 3 Series' largely aluminium setup, this time with adjustable dampers. Additional bracing helps it achieve a torsional rigidity figure some 60 per cent better than the E92 3 Series Coupe.

The cabin holds no great surprises if you're familiar with the 3 Series' architecture. You sit 19mm lower but you're not going to need re-training when it comes to operating the dash controls or the infotainment system. There's a robotised arm for the front seatbelts and the door cards and seats are 4 Series-specific. The rear retains individual seats with a divider down the middle, which means the 4 Series is a strict four-seater.

The entry-level variant gets leather heated seats, xenon headlamps, LED rear lights and a parking radar, as well as climate control. Satellite navigation is standard on most versions but the adaptive dampers are a box you might want to tick on the options list as well as the sport steering.

The 4 Series may be predictably pricey to buy but it's surprisingly affordable to run. BMW's EfficientDynamics technology is standard across the range, helping the cars achieve economy and emissions levels that belie the kind of performance that's on offer. The latest car looks a very strong contender with ultra-competitive economy and emissions figures right across the board.

You might think that in moving to the 4 Series badge BMW could have been a little more adventurous in distancing this car from the 3 Series coupes that preceded it. After all, although they ride on similar platforms, the 5 and 6 Series models are clearly very different in look and feel.

The thing is, this is a formula that clearly works. Sales figures have clearly demonstrated that there's a template and to deviate from it would be to risk wringing the neck of a goose that's laid a tonne of golden eggs.

BMW M3 £56,175 on the road

THE latest generation BMW M3 ups the ante in a number of regards. It's quicker, cleverer, better looking, offers better value and more equipment. You even get the option of a manual gearbox.

Offered solely in saloon guise (for the coupe version you'll need the M4 model), it even returns to the classic straight-six engine configuration. What's not to like?

There has been some revisionist history surrounding the M3, though. Many remember the original car as being some sort of pure-bred racing machine, yet the myth of the M3 being a stripped-out racer for the road endures and BMW has been beaten over the head with it upon every subsequent M3 launch.

The latest car is an M3 through and through. It's fast, capable, hugely exciting, reasonably practical, wholly desirable and a model that reflects the politics of its times.

Enthusiasts will exult at the fact this latest M3 is offered as standard with a six-speed manual transmission. It'll even throw in throttle blips on downshifts, too. There is a seven-speed dual clutch box available as an option and it's sure to be popular, but for the hardcore, there's no substitute for three pedals and a stick.

The engine is a lugger, too. Where the V8 in the previous M3 had to be led by the nose to 3,900rpm where it made most of its torque, this twin turbo 3.0-litre straight-six is doing its best work from just 1,800rpm, offering it a huge advantage in real world driveability.

Unlike the last generation of M3 where the coupe model got the sexy carbon fibre roof and the saloon had to make do with metalwork up top, this time the M3 four-door gets the CFRP roof treatment. This brings weight-savings of 5kgs and lowers the vehicle's centre of gravity.

Although the four-door body will never have quite the sleekness of the long-doored coupe shape, BMW's stylists have done a very good job here and you might need to double-take to check whether it was an M3 or an M4 that had just blown by.

The interior is beautifully executed, with front seats that take inspiration from the bucket seats fitted in racing cars, and feature a full-size single-piece back panel. There's electric adjustment and heating as standard, while the upholstery is segmented and has some lovely stitching and perforation details.

BMW has made great strides in improving the M3's economy. This current F80 generation M3 develops a massive 431PS yet can see 34mpg and 194g/km when fitted with the twin-clutch transmission.

It's tempting to think of this car as a retrenchment, that it might be an M3 that has dialled back the extremity of its predecessor. While the straight-six twin-turbo engine doesn't deliver quite the aural dynamics of its eight-cylinder normally-aspirated predecessor, that's a small price to pay for a car that's just flat-out faster. Faster and more talented in corners too, thanks to a better chassis and less weight to lug. And better equipped and better value.

BMW has moved adeptly with the times with this model and should be rewarded for doing so. The company is interested in building performance cars for a real and rapidly changing motoring environment and that's what it's done with this M3.

It has embraced efficiency improvements while still offering old-school interaction - via three pedals and a stick should you want it. It's a very smart blend of the traditional and the modern and looks to move the game on by quite some margin.

THE WAY OF THE NEW BMW M3 SALOON AND M4 COUPÉ.
LAUNCH 21 JUNE.

Elms Stansted will be holding its official M Power launch weekend from June 20-22, at Elms Stansted. If you love BMW M Power it's a weekend you won't want to miss. On June, 21 you will be able to see the brand new M3 Saloon and M4 Coupe on display, as well as having the opportunity to enter a showroom competition with a chance to win one of six BMW driving experience day tickets. To celebrate the arrival of the two exciting new M Power models, Elms Stansted will be holding an M Power sales weekend where you can benefit from discounts on M Power & M Sport models as well receiving discounts on M Performance Accessories. If that's not enough, June 21 is also the launch date for the stylish and practical 4 Series Gran Coupé.

THE NISSAN DEPOSIT CONTRIBUTION IS ONLY AVAILABLE TO CUSTOMERS TAKING NISSAN FINANCE ON A NEW LEAF REGISTERED BETWEEN 01/04/2014 AND 30/06/2014 AT PARTICIPATING DEALERS ONLY. The offer is based on 6,000 miles pa, excess mileage 2p per mile and is not available in conjunction with any schemes or offers. Finance provided by RCI Financial Services Limited, PO Box 148, Watford WD17 1PS. Subject to status. Guarantees and indemnities may be required. You must be at least 18 and a UK resident (excluding the Isle of Man and Channel Islands). Terms and conditions apply, please visit www.nissan-offers.co.uk or your local dealer for full details. All prices include first registration fee and 12 months' road fund licence. Information correct at time of going to print. Model shown is for illustration purposes only and is subject to availability. LEAF Visia shown has metallic paint at £255 inc. VAT. Our dealership introduces customers to a limited number of finance providers including RCI Financial Services Ltd. Finance providers pay us for introducing you to them. CO2 while driving 0. MPG N/A. From 2p per mile is based on (i) overnight electricity costs (British Gas Standard Tariff unit rates for a customer paying by direct debit as at 1 May 2014, assuming seven hours of charging at the night rate and one hour on the day rate), and (ii) a range of up to 154 miles per full charge (assuming 50% efficiency). Actual consumption and range may vary due to driving style, road conditions, air conditioning and other factors outside our control. Daily standing charge of 25p also applies. LEAF 24-hour test drive is subject to availability and eligibility criteria, and from participating Nissan dealers only. Restrictions and limitations apply, see nissan.co.uk/leaf24. *Source: December 2013 Nissan Europe Customer Satisfaction survey of 498 LEAF buyers across UK, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Denmark, Switzerland, Norway and France, who had owned their car for approximately one month. Scrap Cars

End of the road for your vehicle?

Responsible drivers scrap their vehicles at an Authorised Treatment Facility (ATF). Because only an ATF can legally scrap a vehicle. That means any pollutants will be made safe before it's recycled in an environmentally friendly way.

What's more, for certain types of vehicle you'll get a DVLA approved Certificate of Destruction (CoD). A CoD proves that the ATF has told DVLA your vehicle has been scrapped and so is no longer your responsibility. www.direct.gov.uk/motoring

Public NoticesEssex County Council*(Footpath 162, Harlow) (Temporary Prohibition of Use) Order 2014

Notice is hereby given that the Essex County Council has made the above Order under section 14(1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

Effect of the order: to temporarily close that length of Footpath 162 in the District of Harlow, from its junction with Footpath 163, Harlow north to its junction with Footpath 161, Harlow.

The closure is scheduled to commence on 20 June 2014 for 6 months or where appropriate signs are showing and weather permitting, and is required for the safety of the public and workforce while construction works to create a 'trim trail' are undertaken.

An alternative route will be available via Footpath 163 and Footpath 161. The Order will come into effect on 20 June 2014 and may continue in force for 6 months, or until the works are finished, whichever is the earlier.

(Footpath 29, 32 & 33, Roydon) (Temporary Prohibition of Use) Order 2014

Notice is hereby given that the Essex County Council intends, not less than seven days from the date of this notice, to make the above Order under Section 14 (1) of the Road Traffic Regulation Act 1984.

Effect of the order: to temporarily close that length of Footpath 29, 32 & 33, Roydon in the District of Epping Forest, as specified:

Footpath	Description
Footpath 29, Roydon	For its entire length.
Footpath 32, Roydon	From its junction with Footpath 29 and its junction with Footpath 33.
Footpath 33, Roydon	For its entire length.

The closures are scheduled to commence on 1 July 2014 for 6 months or where appropriate signs are showing and weather permitting, and is required for the safety of the public and workforce while site investigation works are undertaken.

An alternative route will be available from the southern end of Public Footpath 32 Roydon, west along Epping Road, then northwards along Bridleway 70, Roydon, then south east and eastwards along Public Footpath 18 Roydon, then south along Public Footpath 82, Harlow and vice versa.

The Order will come into effect on 1 July 2014 and may continue in force for 6 months, or until the works are finished, whichever is the earlier.

Dated: 19 June 2014

Busy time for Canons Brook as golfers make cup progress

IT has certainly has been a busy and successful time for golfers at Harlow's Canons Brook.

The Leslie Wood Trophy team have reached the quarter-final of the plate competition after defeating Clacton Golf Club 6-4.

The Thornton Cup team from the Elizabeth Way club earned the derby bragging rights after defeating close neighbours Bishop's Stortford Golf Club in the first round of the Plate competition.

They came out winners 6-4 and progress to the second round to be played on June 22.

One of the most prestigious competitions, the Gilbey Commemorative Cup, was played at Canons Brook.

The winner was Adam O'Connor, playing off a handicap of five, and coming in with a net score of 70.

O'Connor was presented with his winner's trophy by club captain Alan Grant.

There are still a limited number of places available for the Captain's Charity Open, sponsored by Adnams brewery.

This will be played on Friday June 27.

The format is a pairs fourball betterball competition and teams can be made up of men, women or mixed.

The cost is £35 per pair, which includes coffee and a buffet lunch after and substantial prizes for both member teams and guest teams.

It is a shotgun start at 9am. Contact the golf club to enter and for further information.

The captain's chosen charity is Macmillan Cancer Support.

Women lead the way for Harlow

HARLOW Running Club competed in the second round of the Herts/Essex Mid-week Road Race League, division two over an undulating 10K course at Stevenage.

The ladies came out on top out of nine teams with the men in fourth place and overall Harlow finished third.

The first female finisher for Harlow was Louise Tankard in third out of 90 finishers in 41 minutes, 57 seconds – a personal best (PB) and a club senior ladies record.

She was followed home on the day by club-mates Dionne Jones (sixth, 1st Vet 35, 44.08), Julia Gardiner (seventh, 2nd Vet 35) and Paula Reynolds (ninth, 3rd Vet 35).

There were also PBs for Sandi Rust (27th, 48.42), Claire Adams (58th, 53.25) and Holly Nairn (70th, 55.16).

Among the Harlow men, Jared Bethell finished eighth out of 151 finishers in 35.59, followed home by Steve Mackenzie (33rd, 3rd Vet 50, 40.09) and Adrian Fell (39th, 40.40).

John Tennant was 68th (2nd Vet 60, 43.12) and there were PBs from Pete Brewin (46th, 41.02), Santosh Kumar (86th, 44.34), Mark Hayward (89th, 44.32) and Spencer Brooks (115th, 48.21).

What a year as Paringdon seal fifth premier title in six years

PARINGDON Lyon might have narrowly missed out on their aim of winning the Essex Cup, but the Harlow & District Football League team can be well proud of their treble from the 2013-14 season.

Assistant boss Stuart Grieves explained: "Our aim for the season was to win the Essex Cup, although we still wanted to do well in the Harlow & District Football League our main target was always the Essex, unfortunately that wasn't to be we ended up losing 2-0 in the semi-final to FC Byair.

"That was the day the majority of our team decided to have an off day and it wasn't to be."

Paringdon won the premier division title, Senior Champions League and H&DF League Cup to more than soften the blow.

"With the squad that we had we knew it would take something special to beat us in Harlow this year and this was proved as we won every game, winning the premier league for the fifth time in six years, the champions league for the second season in succession and the League Cup!

"All in all we played 26 games this season, winning 25, scoring 130 and conceding 21.

"It was a great season for us winning the treble and we hope to continue this into next season and maybe our luck will change in the Essex Cup."

The side is managed by multi-cup winning stalwart Alemit Athletic boss Peter Lucia.

MADRID MEMORIES: The Mark Hall Academy Year 9 and 10 boys enjoy their trip to Real Madrid's Santiago Bernabeu stadium

Real Madrid trip a Clasico event for Mark Hall pupils

VISITING the world famous Real Madrid stadium, the Bernabeu, will live long in the memory for a group of Harlow schoolchildren.

Mark Hall Academy took 34 Year 9 and 10 boys to Spain to train with the Spanish Primera Liga giants of world football.

They spent four days training with coaches from Real Madrid and playing matches against local Spanish clubs.

At one point the students got the chance to observe the Real Madrid second team in training.

The trip had a strong work-related learning and global community focus.

The students were exposed to the Spanish culture and language as well as to the realities of being a professional footballer: the discipline, training, skill and the responsibility of being a role model in one's community.

Being part of a top class team also involved some living the high life, with students having their own private transport, translator, coaches, security guards and a physiotherapist; all this, in addition to staying in a four-star hotel.

The group visited the Bernabeu Stadium, now home to world famous stars such as Wales' Gareth Bale and Cristiano Ronaldo, and have photographs taken with the club's most recently won trophy, the 2014 Champions League.

"All the students had an amazing time and the Real Madrid staff commented on how polite and well-mannered the students were and have welcomed them back next year," said Steve Stockdale, trip leader.

"What a great success this trip was, and I'm looking forward to more trips in the future."

Galloway's second best yet again!

AROUND 120 entrants and spectators were present at the Great Parndon Community Association Hall in Harlow for the 2014 Harlow Owls Open darts knockout.

It is 35 years since the event was launched at Harlow Town FC in 1979.

For the second year in succession Dave

Galloway (Harlow) finished as runner-up.

Galloway lost 5-3 in the final to Paul Barham from Basildon.

Barham has played on the PDC Youth Tour and played 22 times for Essex in the 2013 season.

He was also 2013 Essex Super League champion and Brentwood Leagues Singles Champion.

Galloway plays in Harlow for the White Admiral, members of the Harlow Premier Darts League, and British Legion Club (Harlow Club League).

Barham took the £300 first prize money, and Galloway bagged the £150 runners-up prize plus £25 for a 170 out shot.

Barham came through his semi-final 5-4 against Alex Roy (Ace of Hearts), while Galloway won his 5-4, including a 170 outshot against Tim Martin (Abbotts Langley).

Quarter-final results: Paul Barham 4, Paul Wilsher (Harlow) 2; Alex Roy 4, Tony Course (Haverhill) 1; Dave Galloway 4, James Jennings (Harlow) 1; Tim Martin 4, Dave Galloway 5.

KEY PLAYER: Harlow's Mobashar Mahmood has gone to Pakistan for the Asian Five Nations Championship (s)

Ex-Ram off to Pakistan for Asian 5 Nations

MOBASHAR Mahmood is set to play for Pakistan in two forthcoming rugby union internationals as he prepares for the Asian 5 Nations Championships 2014.

The former Harlow Rugby Club player, who lives in Harlow, has flown out to Pakistan for the matches.

This was after he starred in a crushing 44-16 win for Pakistan's rugby league team against Spain's RL squad.

He said: "I have just been granted my visa to go to Pakistan now and play Lebanon on the 19th [of June] and then either India or Uzbekistan on the 22nd. This is part of the preparation for the Asian 5 Nations Championships 2014."

Former Passmores School student Mahmood (25) is certainly putting Pakistan on the rugby map.

The loosehead prop, from Summers, has represented Pakistan at both rugby union and rugby league.

Pakistan will compete in a group with teams from Lebanon, Laos and Uzbekistan. Other teams taking part in the tournament are Japan, India, South Korea, the Philippines, UAE and Hong Kong.

"This tour was part funded as unfortunately Pakistan Rugby League are not heavily funded," Mahmood explained.

Mahmood has signed for Luton Rugby Club, and will play for the Bedfordshire side next season.

He played for Harlow Rugby Club from U-16 through to U-17 and Colts, and then broke through to the first team.

Tennis club starlets hold nerve to win county title

YOUNGSTERS from Harlow Tennis Club are celebrating after winning an Essex county competition.

The mini tennis eight and under team snatched the county title following a thrilling final group game match against Redbridge held at the Southern Way club.

Both teams were aware before the start that the outcome of the match would decide who were the county champions for 2014 and this created a tense atmosphere for the players and the spectators.

Harlow were off to a flying start when Oliver Brooker and Christian Penchev defeated the opposing number one and two players.

Oliver's match went to the wire, with the Harlow ace eventually winning 15-13 to keep his unbeaten league record intact.

This set the tone for the match and the Harlow team all performed superbly, quickly establishing a convincing lead which they never let go of, eventually triumphing by a convincing margin of 10 rubbers to six.

The Harlow team was made up of Oliver Brooker, Christian Penchev, Charlotte Pressley and Matthew Wright, and all part of the club's performance training programme.

There was further success when Mason Paget played in the U-8 event at Gosling Tennis Centre in Hertfordshire, and won the event against strong opposition.

Harlow Tennis Club's director of tennis, Will Calvert, said: "These were outstanding results for the club and I congratulate the players, coaches and parents for all their efforts over the last few months."

"The club intends to improve and expand all aspects of our performance programme over the next few months and this result gives everyone a terrific boost."

Botham's support for leaders Southendians spoilt by Harlow Town

SIR Ian Botham achieved magical things on the cricket field but his support for league leaders Old Southendians & Southchurch was not rewarded as they were beaten by seven wickets at HARLOW TOWN in division three of the Shepherd Neame Essex League.

Southendians batted first in Saturday's clash and their innings was dominated by their Australian overseas player Michael Hill.

From ball one he looked in control and his shot selection, judgement and execution all came together to deliver one of the best innings from a visiting player for some time.

He went on to make 142 and the next highest score was extras (20) in a total of 245-8 from 50 overs.

Ronnie Yates (4-58) was the pick of the bowlers and Dan Farmer (1-22) bowled excellently.

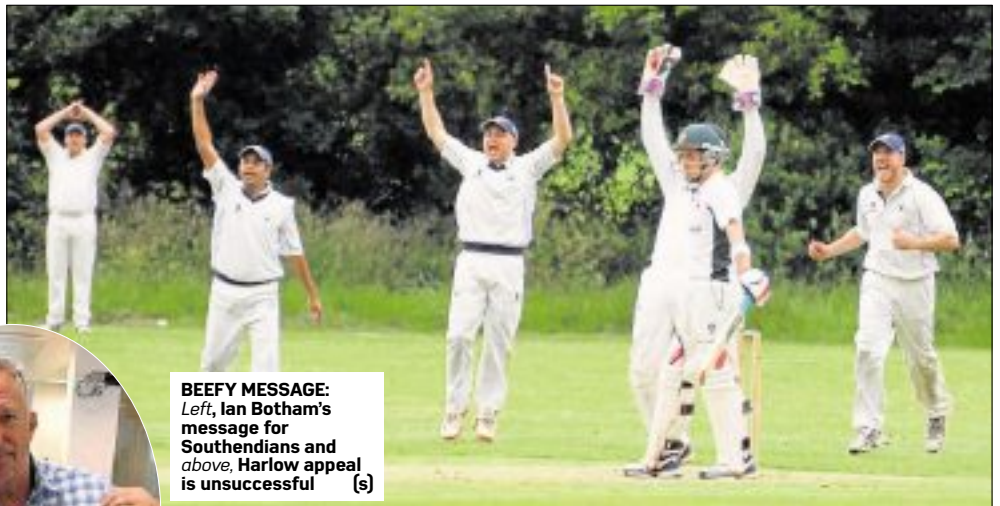

The Town reply got off to another solid start with the returning Shiraz Ali (38) and Pat Yates (50) falling two short of an opening stand of 100 to set the foundation.

Joe Holland made a classy 31 before mistiming a slower ball from the impressive and sharp opening bowler Adam Randall. Ramya Upadhyay continued his good form with a well-paced 59 not out.

Neil Gladwin joined Upadhyay with the score on 149 and the pair saw Town home to 246-3 with nine balls to spare.

Harlow Town II (217; Scott Alderson 59, Ben Eversden 86) beat Old Southendians & Southchurch (143) by 74 runs.

Top knocks from Jake Messenger (87 not out) and Brendon Maclean

BEEFY MESSAGE: Left, Ian Botham's message for Southendians and above, Harlow appeal is unsuccessful (s)

(85 not out) guided Harlow Town III (199-1) to a nine-wicket win over Hutton III (198-8).

Harlow Town IV (139, Paul Blunt 41) lost by seven wickets against Billericay IV (142-3).

Harlow Town (197) came down to earth with a bump when they lost by 10 wickets against Middlesex Premier League side Stanmore (198-0) in the second round of the Conference Cup on Sunday.

The major knocks for Town came from Shiraz Ali (40), Ashley Alderson (36) and Neil Gladwin (59).

In Stanmore's innings, Dan Farmer and Shaun Alderson both bowled well but without luck and the Middlesex side completed a comfortable 10-wicket win with Pandaya scoring 107 not out.

Harlow Town (137-4) beat Hainault & Clayhall (136-9) by six wickets in the Dukes T20 cup.

Harlow Town are playing all star side Lashings at home on Friday June 27 and admission will be free. ● It was very close as HARLOW lost in the final over against Colchester and East Essex in the Shepherd Neame Division One.

Harlow batted first and scored 256-9 from their 50 overs.

Ahmed Khawaja combined patience and punishing stroke play to top score with 82, while Anthony Webb continued his good form to make 47.

Webb (2-48) and Luke Monger (2-57) bowled well for Harlow but their victory bid was let down by two dropped catches.

A Colchester opener made 50 and number five Camden Hawkins anchored the innings to the end making 70 not out.

Nine runs were needed from the last over and the winning six was hit to give Colchester victory with two balls to spare.

Harlow II (203) lost by five wickets against Loughton II (204-5).

Meanwhile, Harlow III (258) were indebted to a fine 126 not out from Sunni Ali as they beat Chelmsford IV (186) by 72 runs.

Harlow captain Dave Whellams took 3-22.

Harlow IV (157-4); Jack Davies 53 not out beat Wickford IV (154; Kyle Farmer 5-37) by six wickets.

Harlow V (246-7, Connor Monk 50, Jay Lowles 50, Amir Farooq 50) beat Upminster VII (163) by 83 runs.

Monk followed up his good batting by taking four wickets and Russell Davies took two wickets.

England comes calling for Osagie to run at Commonwealth Games

ANDREW Osagie has been selected in the 129-strong Team England athletics squad for the Glasgow Commonwealth Games which begin on July 23.

The Harlow Athletic Club member, pictured, will race in the 800m.

He set a season's best European and Commonwealth Games qualifying time of 1:45.37 at the Prefontaine Classic Diamond League meeting in Oregon, USA at the start of this month.

He finished eighth, just behind Kenyan David Rudisha, who was making his comeback after a long lay-off through injury.

Also in the 800m team are Osagie's domestic rivals Michael Rimmer and Mukhtar Mohammed.

The 26-year-old former Burnt Mill School and Leventhorpe School student had an excellent winter, winning bronze at the World Indoor Championships in Poland, and has targeted success in Glasgow as one of his main aims for the summer.

Jan Paterson, Team England Chef de Mission said: "I'm delighted by the calibre of athletes in this team, not just in the shape of Olympic, World and Commonwealth Champions but also young talent who can really make their mark in Glasgow and become international names in future years."

Chiassaro's closing gap on world rivals

BY ALAN SCOTT

alan.scott@hertsessexnews.co.uk

RICHARD Chiassaro is hitting the best form of his career as he gears up for this summer's IPC European Championships in Swansea.

The 32-year-old Harlow Athletic Club member is now firmly established in the top six in the world in the T54 disability category for 100 metres, 200m and 400m.

It is a very different story to two years ago when Chiassaro, of Seymours in Harlow, was left heartbroken when he was left out of the Great Britain squad for the 2012 London Paralympics.

Back then Chiassaro was deemed 'not medal potential' as the British Paralympic Association opted to only put athletes into events which they felt they had a great chance of winning a medal in.

Fast forward two years and it is a very different story.

Former Mark Hall School student Chiassaro is only just losing out to the top three wheelchair sprint athletes in the world – Dutchman Kenny van Weeghel, Leo Pekka Tahti and Marc Schuh. But he has got this gap down to two-hundredths of a second and is convinced he can snatch a medal in the 2016 Paralympics in Rio de Janeiro.

"I was within touching distance of them [van Weeghel, Tahti and Schuh] halfway down the straight. I am more confident than I used to be. I used to get very nervous. My times are so high at the moment, with a couple more years' training there is no reason why I cannot win a medal [at the 2016 Paralympics]."

He will head into the IPC Europeans, starting on August 18 at Swansea University, with a huge chance of medal success in the 100m, 200m and 400m.

Around 600 athletes from 40 countries will compete in the event from August 18-23.

It will be the first major international multi-day para-athletics event to be held in Great Britain since the 2012 Paralympic Games.

Chiassaro regularly attends invitation-only events where he faces the world's best athletes and the next one is in Finland.

Closer to home Chiassaro was in action last weekend at a British Wheelchair Athletic Association Grand Prix at Stoke Mandeville.

Chiassaro has noticed a massive difference since GB wheelchair coach Jenny Banks started coaching him eight months ago.

"I changed my coach and it has worked really well for me. She has helped a lot with my recovery time," Chiassaro said.

Chiassaro is hoping to build on his strong performances at the IPC Grand Prix in Switzerland a fortnight ago, when he recorded new personal best times in the 100m, 200m and 400m.

His time in the 100m in Switzerland recently would have handed him fifth place in the Paralympics final two years ago, and he knows he is much faster and fitter now having worked hard on his stamina at Mark Hall Sportscentre in the last two years.

"Kenny [van Weeghel] is the number one in the 200m and Leo [Tahti] is number one in the 100m. They are so close to each other. Improving my times now is quite hard, because they are so fast. But I can't see why I can't get down to those times [set by van Weeghel, Tahti and Schuh]."

"My favourite event is the 100m, but my coach says I am best in the 400m."

Golfer Gabriella named in England side for Euro Champs

HARLOW golfer Gabriella Cowley has been named in the England side that will challenge for medals at the European Ladies' Team Championships next month.

The 18-year-old is among three Curtis Cup players named in the side, the others being Bronte Law and Charlotte Thomas. The championships take place at Ljubljana Golf Club, Slovenia, from July 8 to 12.

Cowley, who lives in Threshers Barn and plays for Ware's Hanbury Manor Golf & Country Club, has only just returned from the Curtis Cup at the St Louis Golf Club in Missouri. Her Great Britain & Ireland team lost to America, but Cowley has enjoyed a great year.

She was the runner-up in the Portuguese amateur championship, helped win the Nations Cup for England at the Helen Holm Scottish Stroke Play Championship, and finished eighth in the Welsh open stroke play. She also won the England Golf girls' order of merit for 2013.
